Graduate Thesis

A Bilingual Research Thesis

A neutral Zhejiang-style chaptered starter

Author Name
Department of Your Discipline
University Name

August 29, 2026

Abstract

This abstract page is ready for a concise statement of the research question, method, principal result, and contribution. Add a bilingual abstract when a CJK engine and fonts are available.

Acknowledgements

Replace this paragraph with acknowledgements and funding.

Contents

1 Introduction 1

2 Methods 2

3 Results 3

4 Conclusion 4

A Supplementary Material 5

Chapter 1

Introduction

State the problem, motivation, and contributions.

1. Define the research question and scope.
2. Present a reproducible method and evaluation.
3. Discuss limitations.

Chapter 2

Methods

Describe data, assumptions, and protocol.

$$y = \alpha + \beta x + \varepsilon. \tag{2.1}$$

Chapter 3

Results

Table 3.1: Example results

Method	Score	Error
Baseline	0.72	0.08
Proposed	0.86	0.04

Chapter 4

Conclusion

Summarise the contribution and future work.

Appendix A

Supplementary Material

Add proofs, instruments, or bilingual metadata.

Bibliography

[1] D. E. Knuth. The TEXbook. Addison–Wesley, 1984.