

Farmers' Market Returns to the Green Every Saturday

After a two-year hiatus, the Maple Street farmers' market is back on the village green every Saturday morning from 8am to noon, running through the end of October. Eleven vendors have signed on so far, selling produce, baked goods, honey and handmade soap.

"We've wanted this back since it closed during the road works," says organiser Priya Nair. "Having it on the green again, right where people already walk their dogs, makes it feel like the market never left."
